

Monday, September 19, 2011

Everything you ever wanted to ask a Plastic Surgeon, part 2

If you read my interview with Dr Donath a few weeks back, this is part 2. You may wonder why a makeup artist interviews a plastic surgeon, or a facialist. My clients expect me to be an expert on all things beauty and want to know where to turn when concealer just isn't enough anymore. I firmly believe in aging gracefully, but that doesn't mean I am anti-procedure. These hands have touched many an over-surgerized face, and I feel very strongly that Dr Donath's work is tasteful, subtle, and not overdone. See for yourself!

(We plan to do an open house with his office in November; details to follow)

